

Get refugees off PNG

2013 Kevin Rudd re-introduces offshore detention in an attempt to win the September election.

2019 Refugees are moved against their will from Manus Island (PNG) to Port Moresby. They are now stranded in Port Moresby and are at risk of violent assault, robbery and starvation. About 50 refugees and asylum seekers remain there today with their wives and children.

Many of these men are so mentally and physically damaged by their treatment from the Australian government that they must be evacuated to Australia for medical treatment. Many were eligible for a second aborted Medivac operation, supported by Labor in Opposition, but stymied and abandoned.

In a secret agreement, the Morrison Government promised what is believed to be $80 million to the PNG government to ensure the welfare of the refugees in Port Moresby until 2025. It seems that none of this money has reached refugees since November last year.

Most of these people are ineligible to work and have no way of paying for their housing, food and medical needs. Providers are in debt because they have not received money for services they were supposed to supply to the refugees and asylum seekers.

Former ASIO Director-General and Defence chief confirmed on Sunday 11 February 2024 that “companies linked to suspected arms and drug smuggling, busting sanctions on Iran, corruption and bribery won massive government contracts, together worth well over $2 billion”. The Age 5/2/24

“No one who arrives by boat will ever settle in Australia.”

In limbo in Port Moresby.

Bring them here!

$80 million gone into thin air.

An inverse prison system where the crooks were the guards.
